If you are in the market for a window air conditioner, be aware that some are more efficient than others. Compare different makes and models by dividing BTU capacity of a unit by its wattage. Units with highest ratios are the most efficient.

Lawrence Stewart, Evergreen, is using one of the non-selective herbicides to control growth under an electric fence. This is an effective way to prevent grounding of hot wires.

Stewart used a tractor mounted sprayer and a directed nozzel to treat the area under the wire.

A list of recommended herbicides is available from the Extension Office, J. A. Smith, Extension Agent, says.

PORK PICKIN'S
Appomattox Pork Producers

The Appomattox Pork Producers will hold their next meeting on Tuesday night at the Extension Office. The program will be on Swine and Feeder Pigs. Housing; Economical Units and will be presented by Mr. Frank Sweet.

The Piedmont Pork Producers Tele-Auction for Market hogs was held Monday at Farmville Livestock Market and the top hogs sold for $30.10 pr cwt. This was serveral dollars more than the Peoria Market.

The South-Central Feeder Pig Sale was held at Farmville Livestock Market on May 2nd. Over 1200 head were offered for sale. The top prices paid for 35 pound average pigs was 54 cents per pound. Pigs in general were off quite a bit over the April sale. May pigs sold for from 6 to 10 dollars less per head than in April.

With hogs on the present market losing about eight dollars per head, there just can't be a very large demand for feeder pigs.

Jerry Litton, congressman from Missouri, scored a hit as usual, in his address to the National Agricultural Marketing Assoc. Convention in Kansas City last week.

"Food is too high - compared to what?" he challenged. "If non-farm producers had increased their productivity as much as the farmer has increased his, there would be no inflation," he added. Three cheers for Congressman Litton. We need more like him.

The Farmer's share of the consumers dollar spent for food declined again this month. It fell by about 5.5 per cent and to the lowest level recorded this year.

The Hog-Corn Ratio dropped again this week to 10.5 which last year for the same date stood at 18.3.
